

Wine Tasting • Theater • Dinner with Show Cooking

An evening where wine tells stories, theater ignites the table, and cuisine becomes a performance.

BOOK YOUR PLACE

There are evenings that start with a glass of wine. And then there are evenings that become stories to be told.

“Acts of wine” is born from the intersection of tasting, cuisine, storytelling, and theater: an experience designed for those who love to be at the table not just to eat or drink well, but to experience something authentic, lighthearted, and surprising.

For one evening, wine stops being just a technical tasting and becomes a character.

Each glass brings with it territories, anecdotes, aromas, memories, and little follies to share.

Two sommeliers will accompany guests on a sensory journey through selected wines, fun facts, and stories: one will guide the tasting and analysis of the wines being sampled, while the other will transform every bottle into a story made of traditions, characters, journeys, and culture.

Alongside the wine, theater will also take the stage. An actress will perform sketches and witty, tongue-in-cheek moments inspired by the tasted wines, creating a lively, convivial, and unpredictable atmosphere, where the audience becomes part of the experience.

To complete the evening, there will be a live show cooking with a 4-course dinner designed to pair with the wines and make each tasting even more engaging.

Don't expect a formal lesson.

Here, we toast, we listen, we laugh, we eat, and we let ourselves be carried away.

Because some bottles tell much more than what is written on the label.
